

Pending Invasion of America

by David Michael

On the morning of the 7th of November, 2018 I sat in my chair at my desk and wondered about the results of the mid-term election that was held yesterday. The Republican Senate remained supportive with its majority of seats but the House fell to the Democrats. This enables a gridlock potential on the US economy with economic incentive bills being roadblocked by the House. It will also empower the Democrat's through the bills of the House to pursue Trump in litigation over alleged misconduct prior to and during the term of his presidency.

More importantly, the question is if the Democratic House has any say over the illegal migration claimed by some to be 14,000 strong through Mexico with the intent to invade America across the Border with the request for asylum. The reality is, Mexico has already offered the refugees asylum who come from the south of Mexico. They reject asylum in Mexico and will seek to try it again at the American Border. This is not a request for asylum but a veiled intent to invade America for economic and not for political 'free speech' reasons.

I am asking the Lord if this is the beginning of a conflict with Mexico that could lead to a border war? I live in a border town in SE Arizona and I perceive that many of the Mexicans here if forced to choose between their allegiance to Mexico or the US, they would side militarily with Mexico.

For years researchers have anticipated a military conflict between the US and Mexico and have redrawn maps as the projected outcome of such a war. A war could return to Mexico vast portions of land in the SW they once ruled to include whole or portions of States including S. California, Arizona, New Mexico and S. Texas. Fighting along side the Mexicans would be a well armed alliance of many Arab nations of the Middle East along with China and possibly Russia. This would quickly become a world war on American soil to gain raw resources and to become rich from American developments.

Many political scientists, mystical scientists and prophets have seen America surrounded by armies from all over the world in seeking to subdue America to then take control of its well developed asset of food production, minerals and cutting edge technologies. Some of the more esoteric seers have had dreams where they have witnessed hostile armies cross American borders from the North (Canada), South (Mexico) East (Europe/Middle East) and West (China). I am one of these seers who have witnessed this in seeing 60,000 Asian troops coming down from Canada 'underground' as a hostile army and then emerging from underground in southern Wyoming with a vast horde of armored vehicles and troops. They then all moved systematically from all of the American borders to occupy the central part of the US (Kansas and surrounding States) where lies our bread basket in the growing of grains and the fattening of beef. The axiom is true, he who controls the distribution and selling of food controls the people.

What most Americans do not know is that large tracts of our national forests have been given over to the UN for their sovereign control. This enables the UN to legally under international law to allow any foreign government to use these lands to move troops and to harvest its raw materials. The America government has already been sold out by globalist pawns who serve the NWO Illuminati to include the Jesuits and its royal houses associated with the Habsburg ruled Holy Roman Empire, the Khazar Zionists and the Rothschild banking cartel. Even China is a servant to these globalist power mongers. President Putin of Russia is resisting this control but the stability of the Russian economy is dependent upon some level of compliance. No nation is exempt or independent from this globalist blackmail.

President Trump is believed by this author to be an intelligent yet naive pawn of the Khazar Zionists and the Jesuits as a precondition of his being backed by them to become president. However, he cannot do too much and even less now that the Democrats own the House of Representatives. Yet, he is showing good sense in seeking to better fence our southern border from the pending invasion.

Will this be enough to prevent what is planned for America by the NWO globalists? Perhaps not.

If President Trump was not a pawn of the NWO globalists, he has the brains and foresight to make a lasting difference in America in regaining Constitutional Liberties for its citizens. Then, come to think of it, so did Hitler in bringing Germany out of a severe economic collapse after loosing WW1 and into solvency and economic growth. He claimed absolute control of the country under the banner of an economic necessity and ordered a form of Martial Law to streamline the solvency process. Once in absolute power, the world saw his real intent as he overran other countries and removed certain racial groups from society by placing them in concentration or internment camps.

There are over 800 internment camps already built across the US. Most of these camps are on Federal lands including National Forests. It may well be these internment camps were designed and built in specific locations to legally come under the control of a UN government as protected from American revolutionaries under international law. If you oppose this UN incarceration action, you become a domestic terrorist and are sentenced to death or detained indefinitely without trial.

Martial Law in America is imminent and can be now enacted by a simple Presidential Executive Order. We only need an event that unsettles Americans such as an invasion from the South or natural disaster to set this in place to justify Martial Law. Does this alarm the mainstream media? No! Does this alarm the Christian church who has historically backed the doctrine of sovereign independence for every American? No! Does this alarm the academics in our colleges and universities? Perhaps a few but they are muzzled or will loose their jobs if they speak out. They will then be branded as a brainless Conspiracy Theorist loosing all academic credibility with no future prospect of employment in an academic institution.

Who then is providing the warning to the peoples of America and the world? Sadly, very few and they too have been marginalized with the disreputable brand of being called a Conspiracy Theorist. I would say there is a Conspiracy at work in America and it has gone way past the line of theory to the level of proven reality. So the title for such alarmists such as myself should be Conspiracy Realist... and not Theorist. As long as the impending doom of America's Constitutional liberties is labeled a theory, people will not give it much importance.

What can the few of us do who are believers?

As in other dreams I have experienced and documented and in articles I have written, I have advised all to become less dependent upon government controlled resources for daily living. The goal is to become completely independent of government intrusion and to become lost somewhere where you are not considered a threat and it is too costly to try to remove you from this location. In a dream this week where a discussion occurred with 12 grey aliens, the pursuit of stealth in being lost in the forest or desert was the advice.

What just crossed my mind is the use of the kind of stealth used by the American Indian and other indigenous peoples around the world when hunting. They would dress up in deer skins with a deer head and antlers to get close enough to other deer get off a shot by bow and arrow or some other weapon. With the high level of surveillance used today in finding people using drones, what if the unmanned aircraft flew overhead and took a picture of you from above and you looked like a common deer? You do have a heat signature that could not be easily masked but you seemed by computer analysis to be something other than human...in fact a deer.

Would they send out ground troops to get you or shoot you to pieces with a machine gun or missile? Likely not. This assumes there are no vehicles or metals in the area that would be identified easily by radar. Even your weapons need to be non-metallic or with so little metal, they do not register on radar. Some Non-ferrous or specialized metals and materials are better stealth having to do with electromagnetic absorption qualities. I have chosen to make medieval styled crossbows as a hunting weapon that are almost exclusively made of wood with some fiberglass which is an organic material. The key here is to choose materials that are commonly found in the environment where you are so they do not give off a separate and distinctive signal to be read by various sensor devices.
